This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE.

In presenting to the Public a new elementary work, for the use of Schools, the Author feels bound briefly to assign the reasons which have prompted him to an undertaking, that might, at first view, appear to be superfluous. These reasons, he trusts, will be deemed sufficiently valid, to free him from the imputation of having engaged in a service uncalled for.

The principle, which he considers as lying at the foundation of all good teaching, is, that a child being taught, both to read and to spell, should be taught, at the same time, to understand what he reads and spells. It is this principle, which has suggested the plan of the present work. He would not deny, that some advantages may accrue from the mere mechanical exercise of spelling, and storing the memory with words which, as yet, convey no sense. He is ready to admit, that it is better for the mind to be thus furnished, than not to be furnished at all; but as words are the signs of ideas, and the ultimate object of acquiring words is, to acquire ideas, and a medium of imparting them to others, it is not easy to say why this end should not be kept in view, through every stage of the learner's progress.

All the spelling books now in use, follow out the same uniform plan, of arranging words according to their sounds and syllables, irrespective of their import. On that plan, they are generally well executed, and would admit of little improvement.

But if the above principle be well founded, something is still requisite, beyond a mere judicious arrangement and correct orthography, to answer the grand purposes of elementary instruction. It is plain, that as far as practicable, the knowledge of the sign, and of the thing signified, should be acquired together, inasmuch as both are to hold an inseparable connection in the mind.

This Speller is believed to be the first school book for children, ever published, in which the principle, as to the arrangement of synonymous definers, was adopted and carried out, through the entire work. Many persons, at first, honestly believed such a course would be attended with injurious consequences; but time and experience have, to a great extent, changed their views.

In confirmation of the importance of acquiring a knowledge of the synonymous import of words, we make the following quotation from the preface of the revised edition of Dr. Webster's royal quarto.

"One new feature is now added to this volume, by making it a synonymous dictionary. Every one engaged in literary composition has felt, at times, the want of such a work; a work not intended, like Crabb's, to discriminate nicely between the shades of meaning in similar terms, but to present, under each of the important words, an extended list of others having the same general import, out of which a selection may be made according to the exigencies of the case." "It will afford important aid to young writers in attaining grace, variety, and copiousness of diction."

The question has been very satisfactorily settled among teachers, that children, while acquiring the synonymous import of words, do, at the same time, make equal, if not greater advancements in the accuracy of spelling. The acquisition of ideas, always adds interest to the exercise.

The key of sounds adapted to Dr. Webster's dictionary, are, in the main, used in this Speller. It should be noted that ed, when a suffix, adds a syllable in the spelling of a word, but not in pronouncing it, unless preceded by t or d.

The marks for c hard and g soft, where these sounds could not easily be mistaken, are sometimes omitted.

In giving the best synonymous definers, some repetition was found unavoidable; this, however, is no more objectionable than it would be in a school dictionary.

This revised edition is somewhat enlarged, and has an addition of about three thousand words. The orthography and pronunciation, are believed to accord with the revised edition of Dr. Webster's dictionary, that work being most generally adopted as the standard in the United States.

THE AUTHOR.

PART I.

OF LANGUAGE, ITS ELEMENTS AND FORMATION.

LANGUAGE is a medium by which we receive and impart ideas.

Language was spoken, long before it was written.

The main organs of speech are the tongue, teeth, palate and lips, aided by the breath.

Speech is the faculty of uttering articulate sounds.

Articulate sounds are the distinct utterance of letters, syllables, or words.

Spoken language is a combination of articulate sounds denoting ideas, or things.

Written language is a combination of words, used by common consent for signs of ideas.

Letters are characters presented to the eye, in a written language, to indicate the variety of sounds, heard in a spoken language.

The letters in the English language are twenty-six, and are called the English Alphabet.

The alphabet has usually been divided into vowels and consonants; but more recently into vocals, subvocals and aspirates.*

Vowels and diphthongs are vocals.

Consonant are subvocals, or aspirates.

W and y, as vowels, are vocals; as consonants, subvocals.†

DEFINITIONS.

Vocals or vowels are letters whose elementary sounds can be perfectly articulated.

* Should any teacher choose to retain the more common names, divisions and definitions ordinarily found in spelling books, there can be no particular objection.

† W and y are subvocals, only when they begin a word or syllable.

Subvocals or consonants are letters whose elementary sounds cannot be so fully articulated as the vocals.

Aspirates are letters whose elementary sounds are formed by propelling the breath more or less forcibly through the teeth and lips.

The vocals, as vowels, are a, e, i, o, u, w and y.

The subvocals, as consonants, are b, d, g, j, l, m, n, r, v, w, y and z.

The aspirates are p, t, k, h, f, s and c.

The subvocal combinations are TH and ng.

The aspirate combinations are ch, wh, sh and th.

A diphthong is the combined sound of two vocals in the same syllable; as, oi in oil.

A digraph is the union of two vocals in the same syllable, one of which is silent; as, ea in head.

A triphthong is the union of three vocals in the same syllable, or in one compound sound; as, eau in beau.

When the utterance of letters mainly depends on the lips, they are called labials; as, b, f, m, p, v, w and y.

When the utterance of letters mainly depends on the teeth, aided by the tongue, they are called dentals; as, j, s, z, zh, ch, sh, th, and c and g soft.

When the utterance of letters mainly depends on the tongue, aided by the palate, they are called palatals; as, d, k, l, n, ng, q, r, t, x, and c and g hard.

ELEMENTS.

The elements of vocal language, are those sounds or breathings, to which all its words are by correct utterance reducible. The definite number of the elements is not fixed with infallible certainty. We think, however, there are not more than forty of a sufficiently distinctive character to be denominated elementary, unless, as some believe, r has two, the one rough, and the other smooth; as in run, her; and a an additional one, called medial; as in fare, prayer.

CHARACTERS TO DESIGNATE SOUNDS.

This mark (¯) over the vocals denotes their long sound.

It is used only where the long sound might be mistaken for the short.

The short sound of the vocals is not marked.

This mark (¨) over ä denotes its sound as heard in fär.

This mark (‿) under a denotes its sound as heard in ball.

This mark (.) under a denotes its sound as heard in what.

This mark (_) under e denotes its sound as heard in prey.

This mark (¨) over ï denotes its sound as heard in marïne.

This mark (˘) over ĭ denotes its sound as heard in sĭr.

This mark (¨) over ö denotes its sound as heard in möve.

This mark (.) under o denotes its sound as heard in book.

This mark (˘) over ŏ denotes its sound as heard in dŏve.

This mark (‿) under u denotes its sound as heard in full.

C marked thus, c, sounds like k; as in cat.

G marked thus, ġ, sounds like j; as in ġem.

E or i, at the end of a syllable, marked with the double accent, and followed by ci or ti, is pronounced like sh; as in spe″cial, vi″cious.

N marked thus, n″, sounds like ng; as in man″gle.

Ch marked thus, c̆h, sounds like sh; as in c̆haise.

Th, in small capitals, thus, TH, is subvocal, and has its sound as heard in THou.

S, in italic, thus, s, sounds like z; as in muse.

The silent letters, except final e, are printed in italics.

The mark of accent (′), placed over any syllable of a word, designates the accented syllable of all the words that follow, till it is contradicted by a change of place.

TABLE OF ELEMENTARY SOUNDS.

The following table of elementary sounds, is introduced to exercise the pupil in the elements of the language, after he has gained sufficient knowledge to comprehend their utility. Of the time when to commence this exercise, the teacher must be the judge.

By most elocutionists the elements are considered to be forty in number; consisting of vocals, subvocals, and aspirates.

The class, either individually or in concert, may first pronounce the word containing the element, and then the element by itself. This exercise should be continued, from time to time, until the sounds can be perfectly uttered.

TABLE OF SUBSTITUTES.

NOTE. The following is a list of letters, or characters, frequently used as substitutes to represent several of the elements as given in the preceding table. The learner should first name the substitute, then the element it represents, and the example in which it is combined.

LETTERS SOMETIMES SILENT.

B is silent after m, and before t; as in lam*b*, de*b*t.

C is silent in *c*zar, victuals, and before k, and after s, as in sick, scene.

D is silent in han*d*some, We*d*nesday, sta*d*tholder, and before g in the same syllable; as in fa*d*ge.

G is silent before m and n, and sometimes before l; as in phlegm, *g*naw, intaglio.

H is silent in *h*eir, *h*erb, *h*onest, *h*our; after g and r, and at the end of a word preceded by a vocal; and sometimes after t; as in *gh*ost, *rh*eum, a*h*, o*h*, ist*h*mus.

K is silent before n; as in *k*nife.

L is silent before f, k, m, and sometimes before d and v, as in ca*l*f, wa*l*k, ca*l*m, wou*l*d, sa*l*ve.

M is silent before n; as in *m*nemonics.

N is silent at the end of words, after l and m; as in kil*n*, hym*n*.

P is silent before n, and sometimes before s and t; as in *p*neumatics, *p*salm, receip*t*.

S is silent in corp*s*, demes*n*e, puis*n*e, vis*c*ount, i*s*le, i*s*land, ai*s*le.

T is silent in mor*t*gage, hau*t*boy, ecla*t*, bi*t*tetdoux, and sometimes before le or en, and ch; as in whi*st*le, so*f*ten, fe*t*ch.

W is silent before r and sometimes before h; as in *w*rite, *w*hoop.

ch is sometimes silent; as in s*ch*ism, ya*ch*t.

gh is frequently silent; as in hi*gh*, li*gh*t.

ph is sometimes silent; as in *ph*thisic.

CERTAIN TERMINATIONS PRONOUNCED.

cion, sion, tion, are pronounced shun; cient, tient, shent; ceous, cious, tious, scious, shus; cial, sial, tial, shal; cean, cian, tian, shan; science, tience, shense.

geous, gious, jus; geon, gion, jun; ous, us; and ics, iks.

SPELLING BY ELEMENTS.

To spell a word by its elements, is to enunciate such elementary sounds of the letters, as are heard in its proper pronunciation.

SYLLABLES AND WORDS.

A syllable is one letter; as, a; or a union of letters; as, man.

A word is a syllable, or union of syllables; as, boy, man-ner.

Letters form syllables, syllables form words, words form sentences, sentences form language, written, or spoken.

A word of one syllable, is a monosyllable.

A word of two syllables, is a dissyllable.

A word of three syllables, is a trisyllable.

A word of four, or more syllables, is a polysyllable.

Words are primitive; as, man; or derivative; as, manly.

Words are simple; as, horse; or compound; as, horse-shoe.

A primitive word is the root; as, man.

A derivative word has some additions; as, man*ly*.

A simple word is any uncompounded word.

A compound word consists of two words; as, ink-stand.

A prefix is placed before the root; as, *un*like.

A suffix follows the root; as, like*ly*.

Orthography treats of the power of letters, and teaches how to write, or spell words correctly.

Orthoëpy teaches the correct pronunciation of words.

Spelling is correctly naming the proper letters of a word, in the order of the syllables.

Reading is pronouncing written words in succession.

ACCENT, EMPHASIS AND CADENCE.

Accent is a more forcible stress of voice, on some particular syllable, in all words having more syllables than one.

When the accent falls on a vowel, the sound of that vowel is long; as in hō'-ly.

When the accent falls on a consonant, the preceding vowel is short; as in man'-ner.

Accent is primary, or full; secondary, or slight; as, on the word, ad'-ver-sa''-ry.

Emphasis is a greater stress of voice, on one or more words in a sentence, to mark the sense of the expression.

Cadence is a fall of the voice at the end of a sentence.

A sentence is such a combination of words, as, being read in connection, make good sense. The close of such a sentence is marked by a period.

ANALYSIS OF WORDS.

In analyzing a word, it will be important to specify all such particulars as are applicable to it, that have been explained on the foregoing pages. The following examples will serve as specimens.

Teacher. What kind of a word is bark?

Scholar. It is a primitive word and monosyllable.

T. What is a primitive word?

S. It is the root from which derivatives are formed.

T. What is a monosyllable?

S. It is a word of one syllable.

T. Will you spell the word by elements?

S. B ä r k.

T. Will you now analyze the word?

S. B is a subvocal and labial; a is a vocal, having its second elementary sound; r is a subvocal and palatal;* k is an aspirate and palatal; and the word means the rind of a tree, or to bark as a dog.

T. Will you now analyze the word reprint?

S. Reprint is a derivative word, and dissyllable, composed of print, the root, and re, the prefix, and accented on the second syllable. R ē-p r i n t′. R is a subvocal and palatal; e is a vocal, unaccented; p is an aspirate and labial; r is a subvocal and palatal; i is a vocal under accent, and has its second elementary sound; n is a subvocal and palatal; t is an aspirate and palatal, and the word means to print again.

T. Analyze distrustful.

S. Distrustful is a derivative word, and a trisyllable, composed of trust, the root, dis, a prefix, and ful, a suffix, having the accent on the second syllable. D i s-t r u s t′-f u l. D is a subvocal and palatal; i is a vocal unaccented; s is an aspirate and dental; t is an aspirate and palatal; r is a subvocal and palatal; u is a vocal under accent, and has its second elementary sound; s is an aspirate and dental; t is an aspirate and palatal; f is an aspirate and labial; u is a vocal unaccented, but has its third elementary sound; l is a subvocal and palatal; and the word means suspicious, not having confidence in.

* If a distinction is made in the utterance of r, it will be rough or trilled before a vocal, and smooth after it.

EXPLANATIONS.

The mode of defining in this book is based on the same principle, that is carried out in all school dictionaries; and so far as correct, abstract definitions are concerned, is substantially the same.

By an abstract definition, we mean such an one, as imparts the signification of a word, in itself considered, irrespective of its applications, or uses. Thus, Dr. Webster defines congruence, coincidence, harmony, stipulation, and covenant, by the same word, agreement, which is a correct definition of each of the above words, when taken independently of the sense, in which they severally imply agreement. It is, therefore, an abstract definition. Dr. Webster says, "In school dictionaries, we must necessarily omit subordinate senses, and particular uses." Accordingly we find by computation, he has, in his school dictionary, defined about 9,000 words, by one, or by two others of synonymous import, all of which are abstract definitions. Walker has defined about 11,000 in the same manner, and Johnson 8,000.

When the best abstract definition is learned, the child will readily perceive the different applications of such words wherever he sees, or reads them in their proper connection with others. Thus, acuteness is defined by sharpness, without specifying in what it consists, or to what it applies, whether the sharpness of a knife, of vinegar, of pain, or perception. But when the scholar reads of the acuteness of a man's perception, the acuteness of sounds, or the acuteness of the pain in his tooth, he instantly perceives the particular sense in which acuteness, in each case, implies sharpness.

The knowledge of words, like all other knowledge, can be acquired perfectly, in no way, except by a successive and gradual advancement, step by step, from the first plain and literal signification, up to the figurative senses, and varied applications.

This is the way by which the ablest philologists have attained all their critical knowledge of this, or any other language in which they may have been versed.

PART II.

MODE OF SPELLING AND DEFINING.

In the following spelling lessons, when there are but two columns, each word in the first one, is to be defined by its opposite one in the second, using the word implies, or such expression as would be applicable: thus, fruition (implies) enjoyment. If there are three columns, the word in the first is defined by the other two words standing opposite, in the second and third columns, thus: lively (implies) active or brisk.

The class will, therefore, study and spell ALL the words in each column, but define only those in the first column, according to the following examples. To the definition thus given in the book, the pupils will add what others they can; or the teacher may, and ought to exercise them, in giving examples of the different senses in which the word may properly be used.

EXAMPLES OF TWO COLUMNS.

gallantly	bravely	defraud	cheat
compound	mixture	disperse	scatter

Defined thus: gallantly (implies) bravely. A compound (implies a) mixture. To defraud (implies to) cheat. To disperse (implies to) scatter.

EXAMPLES OF THREE COLUMNS.

concise	brief	short	fissure	chasm	cleft
pallid	pale	wan	labor	toil	work

Defined thus: concise (implies) brief or short. Pallid (implies) pale or wan. A fissure (implies a) chasm or cleft. To labor (implies to) toil or work.

A strict adherence to this method of defining will be of inestimable importance to the learner.

In defining adjectives and adverbs, the scholar may say implies. In defining nouns, implies, or implies a, the, or an. But in defining verbs, implies to; or he may substitute such other terms as his teacher thinks most applicable in the case.

No pains should be spared on the part of the teacher, to induce the pupils to be faithful in acquiring a knowledge of the signification of such words as they are learning to spell.

By words, written or spoken, they are to communicate their thoughts to others, and comprehend what others wish to communicate to them.

REMARK.

Every child in his course of instruction in primary schools, is required to spell the tables of words in his book, many times over; and it is scarcely possible he should be exercised each time according to the method here proposed, without distinctly acquiring one or more of the prominent, leading significations of a great majority of the words. And we think it cannot be shown, that such a course would not lay the EARLIEST and the BEST foundation the age of the scholar will admit, to become well versed in a knowledge of the English language.

Much, however, will depend on the fidelity of the teacher, in carrying out the mode of defining, as laid down on the foregoing page.

SECTION I.

ALWAYS define the first column by the second, but never define the second by the first. See page 30th.

READING LESSON.

God made the sun and the moon. And he made all the stars in the sky.

God made the sea and the dry land. The tall oak of the hill, and the low shrub of the vale are his work.

He sends the rain and the dew. The heat and the cold come from him.

Now he bids the tree put on its green leaf. But soon he will send the snow and ice. Then the leaf will fall, and the tree be left bare.

All things that move on the land, or fly in the air, and all that swim in the sea, have life from God.

He gives to all their food; and at his word all must die. God made all men, and all things.

He made the poor man, as well as the rich man. He made the dark man, as well as the fair man.

All should love God and do his will.

READING LESSON.

THE wind is air in motion. You can feel the wind, and see how it makes the trees bend and the snow fly.

We could not breathe, nor live, if there were no air. The fire could not burn wood to keep us warm, if there were no air.

The birds could not fly, and ships could not sail, and the boys could not raise the kite.

You could not hear me speak, nor hear the bell ring, nor hear one sound, if there were no air. There could be no fog, nor rain, no hail, nor snow, nor clouds, if there were no air.

You could not see the fine rainbow, nor the green grass. Are you not glad that God made the air?

God makes the ground bring forth fruit for man and beast.

THE SUN.

THE sun is of vast size, and is the source of light and heat.

The sun has dark spots on its disk or face. We do not know what these dark spots are.

The sun is a globe in form, and turns round on its axis or poles.

No one has yet found out of what the sun is made. It was once thought to be a ball of fire. It seems to be such to our eyes; but wise men now do not think it is.

They think God would not have made such a vast globe for no end but to give light and heat to orbs, none of which is half as large as the sun is.

The earth goes round the sun once in a year. The moon goes round the earth once in a month, and both receive their light and heat from him.

What a sad world ours would be, were there no sun to shed his light and warmth on us.

THE TOY BRIG.

James. Where have you been, Charles, and where did you get this nice ship?

Charles. I have been all the way to John Boon's.

James. But why did you not call me? I should like to have gone.

Charles. The fact was, James, I went to see if John had made this ship. He told me he would make me one, but I was not sure when it would be done; and as I meant to give it to you, I did not wish you to see it till then.

James. Thank you, dear Charles; how kind it was in you to think of me; and what a fine ship this is! But who is John Boon?

Charles. Oh, he is a son of George Boon, the boatman, who is sick, and quite poor. All they have to live on, is what John earns. He is not fit for hard work, but he makes all sorts of nice, neat things, and rich folks buy them to help him, for he is a good boy.

James. Oh, I should like to see some of the toys he makes. May be I should buy some thing of him.

Charles. He will be glad to have you, for he has a fine lot of toys on hand. But to my mind, the things he makes best are boats and ships, and he rigs them all in fine style.

James. We will give him a call in a day or two. But what do you mean by "rigs them?"

Charles. To rig a ship is to put up the masts, and ropes, and sails. You see here are two masts, so this is a brig.

James. Is she a brig, Charles?

Charles. Yes; but not a brig of war; she has no guns, or port holes to fire from. But she is of a good size and shape, and I hope will sail well.

James. I hope so, too. We will take her down to the beach with us, Charles.

Charles. That is just what made me in such haste; for my aunt said we might spend the rest of the day on the beach.

James What a fine time we shall have! As we go, we can sail our brig in the streams by the way.

Charles. But we must first launch her from the snore, as they do the ships built in a ship yard.

James. "Launch her," Charles! What do you mean by that?

Charles. I can tell you what a launch is, for I have seen one, and a fine sight it was. A ship, though it sails on the sea, is built on the land; and a launch, is when they let her slide down from the place where she was built, to float on the sea.

James. Oh, I know now what you mean; but let us first think of a name for her.

Charles. Yes; but do not fix on a hard name, as if she was a brig of war; she is not to fight, you know.

James. Then if she is to be a ship of peace, we will call her "The Friends."

Charles. That will be a good name, and John can paint it on her stern.

James. Can John paint names too?

Charles. Oh, yes, quite well; he paints names on all the ships he makes. He paints his toys, too, and they look fine, you may be sure. I wish you could see them. He has men, girls, boys, dolls, and all such things.

James. I should not think a boy like him could make such things. But will there be time for him to put the name on my brig? I must go home soon, you know.

Charles. Oh, he can paint it in half an hour, and it will soon dry. I will get him to do it in good style for you.

James. Thank you, Charles. I shall think much of my ship for your sake. When I am at home it will make me think of you, and how kind you were to me. when I look at my ship.

Charles. And I shall think of you, James, when you are gone. I hope we shall be friends as long as we live.

James. Oh, I am sure we shall, Charles.

THE PLAYTHINGS.

1. "O! mother, here 's the very top,
That brother used to spin,
The vase with seeds, I 've seen him drop
To call our robin in;

2. "The line that held his pretty kite,
His bow, his cup, his ball,
The slate on which he learned to write,
His feather, cap, and all."

3. "My dear, I 'd put the things away,
Just where they were before,—
Go, Anna, take him out to play,
And shut the closet door."

4. Sweet innocent! he little thinks,
The slightest thought expressed,
Of him that 's dead,—how deep it sinks
Within a mother's breast.

THE LITTLE ROBIN.

1. Look, Mary, how that pretty little robin comes and perches near the window! It does not seem at all afraid of us, though we are so near it. Poor robin, what is it you want?

2. Is there no fruit in the hedges? and have you come for a few crums of bread from us? I am sure you shall have them. Go into the kitchen, Mary, and ask for some crums.

3. Now then, here it comes; see how it picks up the crums, and turns its little head about every minute, to watch if any body is coming to hurt it.

4. Do not be afraid, little robin, we will not hurt you; we should be very sorry, I am sure, to hurt a pretty little harmless bird. We like too well to see you come and eat the crums of bread.

5. Now then, it has had enough, and is hopping away. There it goes. It has perched upon a tree, and is going to give us a song. Pretty little creature, how happy it seems! It is very grateful for its good meal.

6. There is no bird so tame as a robin; all other birds fly away the moment we come near them, as if they were afraid we should do them harm; but the little robin seems to say, "I am only a little harmless bird; surely you will not be so cruel as to harm me; for I only want a few crums of bread, and in return I will give you one of my best songs."

7. It is very pleasant to have the robin stay and sing to us in winter, when all the other birds have left us; and we may surely give him a piece of bread in return for his pretty song.

8. I am glad to see you, my dear little robin,
You put me in mind of warm weather;
I 'll open the window, and hope you will hop in,
And then we can both live together.

PETER AND HIS FATHER.

1. ONE day in the month of March, when the sun shone very bright, and it was quite warm, Mr. Shaw was walking in the door-yard, and his little son Peter came to him.

2. Now Peter loved his father very much, because he was so kind to tell him what he had a desire to know. Peter, my son, said Mr. Shaw, when it is noon, the sun is exactly south.

3. It is March now, and in March, the sun rises exactly in the east, and sets exactly in the west. Now tell me, said Mr. Shaw, which way is north.

4. Peter thought a little, and pointing where the sun rises, said, that is east. Then pointing toward the sun said, that is south, father, if it is just noon. Then pointing where the sun would set, said, that is west; and north must be just opposite to the sun at noon.

5. You are right, said Mr. Shaw. Now Peter, if you should go west far enough, you would come to the great Pacific Ocean. Now, you may always know which way to look for the Pacific Ocean.

6. If you should go east, you would come to the Atlantic Ocean, If you should go east, across the Atlantic Ocean, you would come to Europe. Just south of Europe lies Africa, and east of Europe, is Asia.

7. But if you should go west, across the Pacific Ocean you would come to Asia, just as well as to go east. This could not be unless the earth was round like your ball.

8. If you should go south, you would come to South America. Now, said Mr. Shaw to Peter, point your finger toward Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, the Pacific Ocean and the Atlantic Ocean.

9. Peter had been so careful to hear all his father had said, that he could point his finger exactly toward each one.

SECTION XXIII.

DEFINING BY CAPTIONS.

The Noun with its corresponding Adjective.

In most cases, the pupil will know the meaning of the several nouns standing opposite their adjectives.

The adjectives, in each first column, are defined by repeating the words at the head of the columns, with the primitive word in the second column, standing opposite to its adjective. Thus, over formic stands "pertaining or belonging to;" then formic is defined by saying "pertaining to ants." So dorsal, "pertaining to the back."

Pertaining or belonging to		Pertaining or belonging to SECTION XXVII.

The first part of each word, in the first column, has the same meaning as the word against it in the second column; therefore, repeating the word or words standing at the head of the column, with whatever stands in the second column, against each succeeding word, defines each word in the first column. Thus, Bearing heads the first column; then, to define armigerous, say, bearing arms; fructiferous, bearing fruit.

PART III.

BEING AN INTRODUCTION TO "TOWN'S ANALYSIS."

SUGGESTIONS TO TEACHERS.

No scholar can be said to have accomplished any thing valuable for himself, till he thoroughly understands what he studies, and perceives the application. It is, therefore, hoped that teachers will not fail to question and explain to their pupils every particular. Although this part of the work is very much simplified, and brought down, as it is thought, entirely to the capacities of children, yet much, very much, depends on the oral instruction of the living teacher.

In the first place, those questions, answers and examples at the head of each table, with such rules as are occasionally referred to, must be distinctly learned as they occur. In these, the class must be exercised, till each pupil understands them perfectly. When this is accomplished, let the teacher give such number of primitive words for the class to spell, as they can learn well, with their definitions; — not so to be learned one day, that they may be forgotten the next, but to be learned for life. When the scholar has spelled the primitive word, and defined it, let the teacher put to him the same word with what is to be joined to it, and require the pupil to spell and define it thus modified. Lastly, tell the part or parts of speech. Let the same course be uniformly pursued, at the commencement of every new table.

After the scholars become familiar in answering the questions, as proposed by the teacher, let him give out the primitive word, and require his pupils to go through the whole process alone. In this way, three or six months will be likely to accomplish the work of years. Words, language, and signification, will become equally familiar. The prefixes and suffixes, component parts of so many thousand words, will be learned for the entire language, and for life.

In the first and second parts, the scholar acquires a knowledge of primitive words, and in the third, rules and examples for forming and defining their compound and derivative formations.

In the following tables, no more words are given, than were thought necessary to exemplify the mode of defining. The teacher, however, can exercise the pupils on words of his own selection to any extent he chooses.

Those words found in the tables, have been taken without any reference to repetition, for the special purpose of showing the most obvious effect of the prefixes and suffixes in varying their signification.

If these short tabular exercises, with their prefixes and suffixes, are thoroughly mastered, the pupil will acquire the ability of defining something like twenty thousand words of the language, as a reward for his labor.

RULES FOR FORMING DERIVATIVE WORDS.

RULE 1. Final e must be dropped before the addition of a syllable or suffix beginning with a vowel; as,

blame	guide	recite	globe
blam*able*	guid*ance*	recit*al*	glob*ular*

Exception. Words ending in ge, or ce, commonly retain e final before able and ous; as,

peace	charge	change	notice
peace*able*	charge*able*	change*able*	notice*able*

RULE 2. Final e is retained before ly, less, ness, ful, and some; and generally before ment; as,

wise	hope	base	peace
wise*ly*	hope*ful*	base*ness*	peace*less*
state	blithe	noise	grace
state*ment*	blithe*some*	noise*less*	grace*ful*

Exception. Awe, argue, due, true, lodge, judge, abridge, whole, and acknowledge, do not retain e; as,

awe	due	argue	awe
aw*ful*	du*ly*	argu*ment*	aw*less*

RULE 3. When the letter y terminates a primitive word, or occurs as the final letter in any of the derivative forms, and in either case another letter or suffix is added, y is commonly changed into i, except before ing; as,

comely	fury	merry
come*liness*	furi*ous*	merri*ment*
mercy	jolly	holy
merci*ful*	jolli*ty*	holi*ness*

Exception 1. y is sometimes changed into e; as,

duty	beauty	pity	plenty
dute*ous*	beaute*ous*	pite*ous*	plente*ous*

Exception 2. When y is preceded by a vowel in the same syllable, (except in lay, say, pay,) it remains unchanged ; as,

boy	betray	annoy
boy*ish*	betray*ed*	annoy*ance*
play	delay	convey
play*ing*	delay*ing*	convey*able*

RULE 4. y is never changed when followed by ing ; as,

fly	try	deny	comply
fly*ing*	try*ing*	deny*ing*	comply*ing*

RULE 5. Verbs ending in ie, change those letters into y before ing ; as,

die	tie	vie	belie
d*y*ing	t*y*ing	v*y*ing	bel*y*ing

RULE 6. Monosyllables, and words accented on the last syllable, ending with a single consonant, preceded by a short vowel, double that consonant before an additional syllable, beginning with a vowel ; as,

gun	pet	rob	snap
gun*ner*	pet*ted*	rob*ber*	snap*pish*

The following is a list in part of such as double their consonant :

fop	plan	skim	spot	sun
fun	pop	skip	sprig	tan
glut	pun	ship	stab	tin
hop	rag	shut	stem	skin
hog	rig	sip	stir	sup
hum	rip	slip	step	wag
jag	rot	slit	stop	whip
knot	sad	spin	strap	wet
mop	scrag	smut	strut	wit

RULE 7. Monosylables ending with a single consonant, preceded by a digraph, or diphthong, do not double the consonant in their derivatives ; as,

chief	clear	aid	ail
chief*ly*	clear*ly*	aid*ing*	ail*ment*

The following words are of the same class:

bail	maid	seem	void	heed
chain	maim	team	coal	goad
coast	nail	weep	moan	floor
dead	oaf	dream	load	flout
deal	pain	boil	loan	flood
eat	reap	toil	cloud	knead
fear	sail	spoil	keep	lean
gain	feel	coin	heal	laud

Exception. If, in forming the derivatives, one letter of the digraph is dropped, the consonant is sometimes doubled; as, appeal, appel*lant;* fail, fal*lible.*

NOTE. The verbs befall, install, miscall, recall, forestall, inthrall, foretell, distill, instill, fulfill, retain both consonants. Such words as end in dd, ff, ss, also retain both in their derivatives; as, odd, odd*ness;* stiff, stiff*ly;* bliss, bliss*ful;* hiss, hiss*ing.*

RULE 8. When t, or s, precedes e final, in such words as admit ion, e is dropped, and ion added; as,

legate	promote	dilate	diffuse
lega*tion*	promo*tion*	dila*tion*	diffu*sion*

NOTE. Many words in ate, drop te, and take either ble, or cy; as,

estimate	agitate	accurate	delicate
estima*ble*	agita*ble*	accura*cy*	delica*cy*

RULE 9. Most words ending in fy change y into i, and take cation; as, deify, deifi*cation* fortify, fortifi*cation*

Exceptions. A few words ending in fy drop y, and take action; as, stupefy, stupefa*ction* tumefy, tumefa*ction*

RULE 10. Many words ending in ize, drop e, and take ation; as,

legalize	civilize	generalize
legaliz*ation*	civiliz*ation*	generaliz*ation*

Some few words also not ending in ize take ation; as,

sense	form	inflame
sens*ation*	form*ation*	inflamm*ation*

TABLE I.

Now let the teacher commence by proposing his questions to the class distinctly, and by explaining their answers, till each scholar fully comprehends the design and application

Let this direction be invariably followed, at the commencement of every new table.

One word is given at the head of every new table as an example of what follows.

All the primitive words in the first table are nouns, or defined as such, and less converts them into adjectives.

QUESTION. What is a noun?

ANSWER. The name of any thing; as, man, book, virtue.

Q. What is an adjective?

A. A word joined to a noun, to express its quality, or assist in designating the thing meant; as, a sweet apple, a sour apple, a pleasant apple; sweet, sour and pleasant, express the quality of apple.

Q. What is a suffix?

A. A letter or letters, syllable or syllables, appended to the end of a word, to add force, vary or modify its signification; as, fruit, then, fruit*less*.

Q. What does less mean, at the end of a word?

A. It means without, destitute of, or wanting.

Q. What then does fruit*less* mean?

A. Without fruit, or destitute of fruit.

NOTE. The accented syllable is not marked in the Third Part, on account of the change of place produced by the prefixes and suffixes. The characters denoting the sounds of the letters are not used in this Part.

CASH, money.
CASH*LESS*, without money, or without cash.

bound - less	law less	track - less limit	rule of action	mark of the foot cause - less	life - less	thorn - less reason	existence	a sharp point

child - less an infant	noise - less any sound	bot tom - less lowest part doubt - less uncertainty	path - less a road	com fort - less ease dream - less thoughts in sleep	point - less the end	fa ther - less male parent

grief - less sorrow	sense - less understanding	mo tion - less a moving hut - less hovel	sleep - less rest	rea son - less sense match - less an equal	sun - less orb of day	shel ter - less a cover

TABLE II.

Q. What does ful mean at the end of a word, as fruit-ful?

A. It means full of, full, abundance, or having much.

Q. What then is the meaning of fruit*ful*?

A. It means full of fruit, abundance of fruit, or much fruit.

Q. What change do ful and less give to the import of words?

A. Ful, expresses abundance of what the primitive implies; and less, a want of, or destitution.

In this table, the primitives are defined as nouns, and ful converts them into adjectives.

PLAY, sport or merriment.
PLAY*FUL*, full of sport, or full of play.

bliss - ful happiness	spite - ful malice, hate	dis tress - ful pain

fraud - ful deceit	de vice - ful contrivance	re gard - ful respect peace - ful composure	dis gust - ful dislike	dis trust - ful suspicion

TABLE III.

Spell and define the primitive word first; next spell it with ful and less, alternately, and give the meaning each time. Observe the change of import made by ful and less.

PAIN, distress of some kind.
PAIN*FUL*, full of pain or distress.
PAIN*LESS*, without pain or distress.

art - ful - less skill	mirth - ful - less merriment	hope - ful - less expectation care - ful - less anxiety	need - ful - less want, poverty	change - ful - less alteration fear - ful - less dread	prayer - ful - less a petition	joy - ful - less gladness fault - ful - less a defect	shame - ful - less reproach	mer cy - ful - less* clemency
guile - ful - less deceit, cunning	thought - ful - less idea, reflection	pit y - ful - less compassion

* Rule 3, page 117.

TABLE IV.

Q. What does ish mean, when joined to an entire word?

A. With nouns it means like or somewhat like; with adjectives it means somewhat. The words in the first column are nouns, the second and third, adjectives, and ish changes them all to adjectives.

Define the nouns like brute, and the adjectives like small.

BRUTE, an irrational animal.
BRUT*ISH*, like a brute, or somewhat like a brute.
SMALL, little
SMALL*ISH*, somewhat small

Nouns.	Adjectives.	Adjectives.

* Exception 2, page 117-8, † Rule 1, page 117. ‡ Rule 6, page 118.

TABLE V.

Q. What do er, or, ist, ster, ee, ess, mean?

A. The person who, or thing which.

There are some exceptions, especially in adjectives of the comparative degree.

The primitives in this table are nouns or verbs, but the above suffixes convert them all into the person or thing.

brew - er	hew - er	read - er
to make beer	to cut away	to call words build - er to erect a house	hunt - er to search for	rob - ber to plunder drum - mer to beat a drum	lead - er to conduct	speak - er to utter words deal - er to buy and sell	lade - er to load	scoff - er to ridicule

gaze - er * to look intently	make - er to form	vend - er to sell

* Rule 1, page 117.

TABLE VI.

Q. What does en, as a suffix, mean?

A. With nouns, it means made of; with adjectives, it commonly means to make.

The words in the first column are nouns, and en converts them into adjectives. The second and third are adjectives, and en converts them into verbs.

Q. What is a verb?

A. A word which represents being, doing, or suffering, as, I exist, I love, I am loved.

Noun. WAX, a sticky substance.
WAX*EN*, made of wax.

Adj. HARD, solid, firm.
HARD*EN*, to make hard, or to make harder.

N.	Adj.	Adj.
beech - en kind of wood	bright - en shining	like - en similar birch - en kind of wood	broad - en wide	loose - en slack, not tight

oak - en	flat - ten	deep - en
a kind of wood	level	extending down

TABLE VII.

Q. What does ly mean?

A. With nouns forming adjectives, it commonly means like; but with adjectives forming adverbs, it means, in a manner.

Q. What is an adverb?

A. An adverb is a word joined to a verb, adjective or another adverb, to express some quality or circumstance; as the bird sings sweetly. Sweetly is an adverb, expressing the quality of the music.

The words in the first column are nouns, and ly converts them into adjectives. The second and third are adjectives, and ly converts them into adverbs.

Noun.	MAN, a human being.
Adjective.	MAN*LY*, like a man.
Adjective.	SWIFT, quick, rapid.
Adverb.	SWIFT*LY*, in a swift manner.

N.	Adj.	Adj.
friend - ly	blind - ly	meek - ly
an intimate	wanting sight	mild, gentle ghost - ly	brave - ly	neat - ly

a holy person	benevolent	prudent
cow ard - ly	so ber - ly
one wanting courage	serious, temperate
neigh bor - ly	pru dent - ly
one living near	discreet, cautious

TABLE VIII.

Ed is a verbal or participial termination, generally expressing its own appropriate meaning. Sometimes in varying the phraseology, did, or was, or were, will render the import rather more explicit. When did is used, repeat the primitive verb in its present tense. When was is used, repeat the verb with ed added.

The words in this table, before ed is added, may be nouns or verbs; after ed is added, they are verbs or participles. They are defined as being verbs.

FOLD, to double, or wrap together.
FOLD*ED*, did fold, was or were folded

arch - ed	fade - ed †	loan - ed
to curve	to lose color	to lend blast - ed	fret - ted	mar - red
to wither	to vex	to injure
bloat - ed	filch - ed	mend - ed

dip - ped *	heal - ed	part - ed to immerse	to cure	to separate
deck - ed	jerk - ed	skulk - ed
to ornament	to twitch	to hide

* Rule 6, page 118. † Rule 1, page 117.

TABLE IX.

Q. What does ness mean?

A. It most generally implies a quality or state.

Ness always converts its primitive into a noun.

The words in this table are adjectives, and ness being added, they all become nouns.

BASE, mean, vile, worthless.
BASE*NESS*, the state or quality of being mean or vile.
LAME, crippled.
LAME*NESS*, the state of being lame.

apt - ness fit, ready	bald - ness wanting hair	dry - ness not wet
brisk - ness lively	rich - ness wealthy, fertile	hoarse - ness rough voice clean - ness free from dirt	fer vid - ness hot, zealous	lean - ness wanting flesh fair - ness clear, beautiful	fick le - ness changeable	mute - ness silent

pure - ness clear, genuine	rap id - ness swift, quick	pen sive - ness sorrowful
red - ness color of blood	sal low - ness yellow	qui et - ness rest, peace

* Rule 8, page 117.

TABLE X.

Q. What do able, ible, and ble mean when appended to a word, as in pay*able*?

A. That may be, capable of being, fit or worthy to be, or capacity.

The primitives in this table are defined as verbs; but able and ible convert them into adjectives. Ed or en is commonly the termination of the last defining word; as, movable, that which may be moved.

EAT, to take food, to eat.
EAT*ABLE*, that which may be eaten.

blame - able * to censure	as cend - able to mount up	de bate - able to dispute bend - able to crook	a chieve - able to perform	de spise - able to contemn claim - able to demand	as sail - able to attack	la ment - able to mourn fuse - ible to melt, or pour	chas tise - able to punish	cred it - able to believe tame - able to make gentle	cor rode - ible to consume	pun ish - able to chastise

* See Rule 1, page 117.

TABLE XI.

Q. What do ic and al, or ical, mean as suffixes?

A. Pertaining to, relating to, belonging to, or like.

The primitives in this table are nouns, and ic or al converts them into adjectives.

The comma between ic and al, in this table, as seen opposite angel, shows the word, with its formations, to be spelled thus: angel, angel*ic*, angel*ical*. Let this be the example for all subsequent tables where the comma thus occurs.

ALGEBRA, a peculiar kind of arithmetic.
ALGEBRA*IC*, like or relating to Algebra.
ALGEBRA*ICAL*, like or relating to Algebra.

an gel-ic, al

APOTHEGMS.

ADHERE firmly to morality and virtue, and never treat serious things with levity.

Do good to all men as you have opportunity.

No man may expect to have friends unless he acts the part of a friend to others.

Vice and ignorance are the only things of which you need ever be ashamed. Avoid them and you may venture any where without fear or shame.

It is more prudent to overlook trivial offences than to quarrel about them.

When you have lost your integrity, you have lost your character.

A liar is seldom believed even when he speaks the truth.

Always regard what is said to you, by those who are your superiors in age or learning, and endeavor to profit by their instructions.

The greatest wisdom of speech, is to know when, and where, and what to speak.

The great business of man is to do good.

Avoid speaking evil of persons; if you can say nothing in their favor, you had better be silent.

Good breeding consists in a respectful behavior to all.

Do to others as you would be done by.

Reading makes a full man; writing makes a correct man; conversation makes a ready man; and thinking makes a great man.

It is characteristic of a great mind, to inquire into the reason and cause of things.

Time once past never returns. Defer nothing for the morrow which should be done to-day.

The happiness of the body consists in health; that of the mind, in virtue and knowledge.

Virtue's the friend of life, the soul of health,
The poor man's comfort, and the rich man's wealth.

A sage and a poor shepherd looked for truth. The former sought her among the stars, the latter found her at his feet.

Life to youth, is a fairy tale just opened; to old age, a tale read through, ending in death. Be wise in time, that you may be happy in eternity.

Happiness, like a snail, is never found from home, nor without a home.

The rose is sweetest when it first opens; the spikenard root, when the herb dies. Beauty belongs to youth, and dies with it, but the odor of piety survives death, and perfumes the tomb.

Never be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his thread twenty times a day, he patiently mends it each time. Make up your mind to do a good thing, it will be done. Fear not troubles, keep up your spirits, the darkness will pass away. If the sun is going down, look at the stars; if they are hid by clouds, still look up to heaven, rely upon the promises of God, and be cheerful. Never yield to misfortune. Mind what you run after; avoid bubbles that will burst, and fire-works that end in smoke; get that which is worth keeping, and can be kept.

Fight against a hasty temper; a spark may set a house on fire; a fit of passion may cause you to mourn long and bitterly. Govern your passions, or they will govern you. Conquer your enemies by kindness, preserve your friends by prudence, deserve the esteem of all by goodness.

The road ambition travels, is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty, too dark for science, and too hilly for happiness.

Evil thoughts are dangerous enemies, and should be repulsed at the threshold of our minds. Fill the head and heart with good thoughts, that there be no room for bad ones.

Prosperity gains a thousand intimates, adversity often shows us that not one of them is a real friend. Sunshine friends are the green flies of society.

PUNCTUATION AND CAPITAL LETTERS.

PUNCTUATION.

PUNCTUATION is the art of dividing a written composition into sentences, or parts of sentences, by points or stops, to mark the different pauses which the sense requires.

The principal points are the Comma, thus	,	Interrogation, thus	?

Semicolon	;	Exclamation	!
Colon	:	Parenthesis	()
Period	.	Dash	—

A comma denotes a pause, as long as the reader would be in pronouncing the word, and.

A semicolon denotes a pause as long as two commas.

A colon denotes a pause as long as three commas.

A period denotes a pause as long as four commas; it shows that the sentence is complete.

An interrogation point denotes that a question is asked.

An exclamation point denotes astonishment.

A parenthesis includes a part of a sentence, which might have been omitted without injuring the sense, and must be read in an altered and lower tone of voice.

A dash denotes a sudden stop, or change in the subject.

The following characters are also frequently used in composition:

An apostrophe, thus ' denotes the omission of a letter; as, lov'd for loved.

A caret, thus, $\overset{o}{\underset{\wedge}{}}$ denotes where to take in what was left out by mistake; thus, frm.

A hyphen, thus, - connects the parts of a compound word; as, lap-dog.

Quotation marks, thus, " " denote that the passage is taken from some other author, in his own words.

An index, thus, ☞ points to a passage important to be noticed.

A paragraph mark, thus, ¶ denotes the beginning of a new subject.

A star, thus, * and other marks, as †, ‡, §, ‖, and sometimes the letters of the alphabet, and figures, refer to the margin or bottom of the page.

CAPITAL LETTERS.

Capital letters should be used:

1. At the beginning of every book, chapter, note, and sentence.

2. At the beginning of appellations of the Deity; of proper names of persons, places, seas, rivers, ships; and of adjectives derived from proper names.

3. At the beginning of most quotations, and of every line of poetry.

4. The pronoun I, and interjection O, should be written in capitals.

SPECIAL RULES FOR PRONOUNCING CLASSES OF WORDS.

EXPLANATIONS. By the root of a word, we mean that part which belongs exclusively to the primitive form, and is not combined with any other word, syllable, or letter; as, press.

By a separable prefix, we mean that part which may be taken from the primitive root, and leave a significant English word; as from impress, im may be thus taken.

By an inseparable prefix, is meant such combination of a word, syllable, or letter, with the root, that as an English word, a separation of the parts would destroy the English signification of both; as, depute, which, in Latin, is composed of de and puto, but in English they may not be separated.

Penult means the last syllable but one.

Antepenult is the last syllable but two.

RULE 1. Words of two syllables, the first of which is a separable or inseparable prefix, commonly take the accent on the second; as, de-báse, pro-cláim; but if the first syllable partakes of the root, the accent generally falls on the first; as, úrg-ent, tál-ent.

NOTE.—This rule has an extensive application, and the main exceptions are found in those words which may be used, either as nouns or verbs. When used as nouns, the accent, in most cases, rests, on the first syllable; as, an éx-tract, his cón-duct; but when used as verbs, the accent commonly falls on the second; as, to ex-tráct, to con-dúct.

RULE 2. All words of three or more syllables, ending in ability, ibility, ical, ity, or ety, have the main accent, invariably, on the antepenult; as, sensibílity, económical, curiósity.

RULE 3. All words ending in tion, sion, ion, cious, tious, ciate, tiate, cient, tient, tial, tia, cian, cial, cia, ceous, geous, gious, and geon, when pronounced in one syllable, invariably take the main accent on the syllable preceding those terminations; as, confederátion. Nothing but ity after al, in words in ion, ever removes the accent; as, nátion, nátional, nationálity.

RULE 4. All words of three or more syllables, having the following terminations, viz. cracy, gamy, graphy, logy, machy, metry, nomy, phony, pathy, tomy, thropy, lysis, ferous, gerous, vorous, always take the accent on the antepenult; as,

anátomy	geógraphy	theólogy	armígerous
antípathy	demócracy	polyg'amy	pestíferous
astrónomy	geómetry	philánthropy	carnívorous
análysis	theómachy	sym'phony	herbívorous

RULE 5. All words ending in ics, (pólitics excepted) are accented on the penult; as, óptics, mechánics.

RULE 6. Words ending in ic when a suffix, and with few exceptions when otherwise, are accented on the penult; as, dramátic, alphabétic.

NOTE. — The suffix ic, when added to words of more than one syllable, always changes the place of accent; as, méthod, methódic; except in six cases.

RULE 7. All words of three syllables in able, ible, ably, ibly, and all words of four syllables, in ableness, ibleness, are accented on the first; as, móvable, blámable.

RULE 8. All words in tive, preceded by a single consonant, mp or nc, and all words in ive, preceded by s or c, (except substantive and adjective,) are accented on the penult; as, illúsive, reténtive, comprehénsive.

RULE 9. All words of three syllables in ary and ory, (except canáry vagáry,) are accented on the first; as, sálary, mémory.

RULE 10. All words of more than two syllables in fy invariably take the accent on the antepenult; as, glórify, persónify.
